

Products & Services

We are not only selling tactical fiber optic cables, but also all the relevant services as partner for areas like consultancy, system engineering, project management, training, maintenance and long term life-cycle support.

Cable assemblies ready made to use

The fiber optic cables BRUmil, BRUtoough and BRUpowermil are offered together with a large variety of reels, starting from hand-reels over backpack reels to different vehicle reels ready made for use in the field with the corresponding military lens connectors. To connect those cables with the customer's communication equipment, Brugg Cables offer all necessary connecting cables or even copper cables for different applications.

Consultancy, System Engineering

Our highly trained professionals can assist you in specialist cable solutions; in designing optical termination units at the cable end or to develop custom specific solutions together with third parties to find the best possible solution. The BRUGG MILLE systems are example of solutions executed even in different variations for several customers. Should assistance be required please do not hesitate to contact our specialists.

Training

Well-trained staff is the key to achieve lowest possible lifecycle costs and reaching long lifetime of our robust tactical cable assemblies in the harsh surroundings. Therefore we offer deployment trainings of cables together with our large selection of deployment accessories, like wedge clamps, cable shoes, masts etc. During such trainings the emergency cable repair and testing of cables can be trained with the delivered repair and test kits. Taking over these services by the customer itself, enables immediate operation continuity and extends lifecycle at lower cost.
