

PRÆTORIAN INTERNATIONAL

Specialist Training Solutions

Praetorian International

Training within the security industry

Company Profile

Praetorian International provides training services to allied nations, governments and NGOs. We are world-leading experts in specialist training and provide a comprehensive procurement and logistic service, risk analysis and personal security.

Our success and reputation has grown from understanding and fulfilling our client's requirements.

Management Team

Praetorian International was formed in mid 2006 and from its inception the focus has been to establish a Company that provides the perfect training solution at all levels. The Management Team of Praetorian International combines subject matter expertise from the global Corporate Industry and former UK Special Forces. It meets the optimum point between tactical expertise and business evolution.

Praetorian International provides dynamic and effective Specialist Training

The strength and success of our training derives from our professionalism and international presence. We have training personnel operating overseas supporting units deployed operationally and on peacekeeping and humanitarian missions.

Praetorian International can design programmes that meet the client's operational requirements ranging from pre-deployment familiarisation courses for large peacekeeping formations to specialised courses for smaller units operating in hostile conditions.

Our Company can conduct training within the client's environment. In addition we have strategic agreements that enable us to offer training abroad.

With our headquarters based in London, UK and our operations extending overseas we offer our clients integrated logistic and administrative support 24 hours a day.

Our recognised expertise and confidentiality contribute to our success, which enables the end user to receive the most effective training available today.

Praetorian International

Threat Assessment

Military and law enforcement communities have an important role in preventing those intent on subverting the balance of law and order. Real-time and dynamic training prepares the individuals mindset to operate more effectively.

Identifying and implementing your requirements

During the consultation phase Praetorian International will conduct detailed analysis with the client to determine the training requirements and design the most effective tactical program. We can assist in setting the training strategy and defining the most cost effective delivery and implementation of the programme. We pride ourselves on enhancing the operational effectiveness and capabilities of the end user.

Praetorian personnel are internationally renowned experts within their disciplines and have developed their skills throughout their service within elite military and law enforcement units. On the ground our specialists will assist the client with any changes that may be required to be introduced in order to fulfill the objectives.

The constant monitoring and assessment of trends within the specialist security industry ensures our teams operate to the apex of their capabilities. All our specialists operate within an agreed quality framework and constantly conduct assessments of training thereby offering feedback to the client. We will set realistic and measurable key point indicators and ensure that our clients are operating and conforming to the systems approach to training (SAT).

Praetorian International Personnel

Our subject matter experts are drawn from a diverse military and law enforcement background. Our instructor's skills and teaching methods are current and transparent; adopting the EDIP Methodology (Explanation, Demonstration, Imitation and Practise). The strength in our diversity offers the client a unique and integral training edge.

All Praetorian International personnel are vetted to operate within local cultures maintaining strong company ethics.

Enhancing training doctrine

Fundamental to ensuring your personnel achieve the levels of proficiency required, Praetorian International will develop a close working relationship with your personnel to ensure complete training integration. We assess success when the transition is complete and our students become the next generation of instructors.

Our teams will work closely with the client to ensure that all training is documented. On completion this can be used as reference to maintain the highest standards.

Our aim is to assist your personnel to become experts in leading and developing their teams. With constant mentoring and guidance from Praetorian International they will develop and perfect their own teaching methods.

Customised Training Programmes

We at Praetorian International offer a wide spectrum of training ranging from Military to Law Enforcement skills. We pride ourselves on being a market leader delivering a sustainable and achievable service that is second to none. Our training courses can be adapted during delivery to meet the client's ever changing and diverse operational requirements. With emphasis on security and contingency planning our training programmes provide a solid platform to deliver a wide range of skills required to confront today's threats.

With over 70 specialist courses on offer we will design the appropriate programme for you. We value our reputation and always work within host nation and security industry regulations.

Operational Mentoring

Praetorian International delivers an asymmetric approach to it's product by synergising specialist training with operational mentoring. Working with Praetorian's lead instructors and benefiting from our operational experience we can consolidate lessons learned and capabilities gained by mentoring commanders and students whilst participating in operational deployments. Not only is this a valuable asset to senior commanders and an ideal teaching and confirmatory tool but it reinforces the training objectives.
