Our Expertise at Work for You

Survival Systems Limited (SSL) offers a triad of value to its customers including the technology (Modular Egress Training Simulator – METS®), the training (transfer of technology), and R&D (in support of the METS® and the aircraft ditching training program related to human factors studies pertinent to survival).

For 25 years our clients have come to rely on us for more than the METS® technology alone which has led SSL to offering its assistance in a facilities advisory role. SSL takes a total systems approach to critical, life-saving training which translates into first understanding the client's requirements, and then offering a wide array of upfront consultation as well as product recommendations and service support.

The scope of consultation depends on the nature of our client's needs, ranging from a start up operation to a long-term sophisticated training center looking to upgrade its existing Helicopter Underwater Escape Trainer (HUET) technology with a METS® or to replace its conventional lift handling system with a SSL METS® personnel-rated lift system.

Also unique to SSL's offering, the METS® is complemented by one-of-a-kind personnel-rated lift systems; a full array of additional environmental training aids; consultation and services related to land and infrastructure requirements; staffing solutions; OPITO accreditation; warranties; and after-sales service to make a complete turnkey offer from one responsible supplier - SSL.
