

Defence Contracts International Value Added Products

We offer a number of services which integrate seamlessly with Defence Contracts International (DCI) and can help you make the most of your subscription.

Four services are available which enhance both the convenience and comprehensive nature of the DCI service.

- Are you looking for data from previous years to find out what contracts were won, by whom and when?
- Do you work in more than one industry or sector and need an additional profile to keep track of opportunities?
- Are you concerned that you will miss contract opportunities when you are out of the office?
- Would another full Tracker subscription be of benefit to your company, if you could receive it at a preferential rate?

We have all the answers for you in our four value-added products.

Archive Year(s) & Archive Bundle

DCI Archive gives you access to our archive database which contains all available notices and awards from 1998 onwards. This is an unrivalled source of intelligence, putting more than 14 years of contracts information at your disposal. If you purchase an Archive Year you can expect to see data such as Contract Notices, Contract Awards, PINs and MOD Tender Quotations Invited. Buy a single year or take a bundle of consecutive years at a lower per archive year cost.

DCI Archive is a great way to:

- Easily identify previous notices and awards, frameworks and renewals.
- Check backdated notices and awards to discover who has previously published contracts relevant to your business, enabling you to identify potential re-tenders in advance of a new notice being published.
- Check contract awards, allowing you to see what business your competitors have won and with whom, and to discover new competitors that you may have been previously unaware of.
- Investigate if any sub-contracting opportunities have arisen from notices.
- Compare previous contract notices to new ones for the same requirement, letting you see if the contract criteria have changed from the last time.

As a DCI customer, you have the option to either purchase a one-off archive year or a bundle of years.

Additional Profile(s)

Do you work in more than one industry and would like to separate your alerts to ensure they all receive equal attention? By creating an Additional Profile, you can tailor specific contract alerts to individual products and services and pass on relevant contracts to colleagues without having to spend time filtering through them.

Additional Email(s)

Upgrade your subscription to allow your profile to be sent to additional email addresses – for example your personal email account or that of a colleague. If you are unable to view your emails because of meetings, annual leave or time out of the office, an Additional Email could be the answer. By assigning your profile to another email address, you can ensure that contract opportunities will never be missed.

Additional Account(s)

Do you feel that one DCI account is not enough? An Additional Account allows you to enable a colleague to set up a profile relevant to them and receive contract opportunities direct to their own email address. As an existing subscriber, this Additional Account will be available to you at a preferential rate but will still deliver all the same features and benefits as your regular DCI account.
